Death of Austin Bridgeman.

Austin Bridgeman was a native of Ohio, born July 22d, 1844, in the town of Syracuse. He became a member of Company F 63d regt. O. V. I. His Chaplain (with whom he had become personally acquainted) wrote to markably well. He says, I think he was trying to live a religious life; thought that he would find his trust in Christ valuable during his enptivity; he hoped he would soon be re. turned, but said she must wait patiently and prayerfully, for God would not forsake her .-Austin had also written her of a dreadful thunder storm, where several of our men were killed by lightning; he seemed impressed with the importance of being prepared for death. "Ma," he writes, "you would like to over Drafts. State and Bills Discounted, 5,538 and State Drafts. State and Bills Discounted, 5,538 and 5,538 hear that I am praying; I will tell you that Banking House, seldom a day passes but I commune in secret with my Heavenly Father, O Mu aid Carrent Expenses.
Remittances and Cash Items. me by your prayers."

His captors took him to that awful prison U.S. Bonds deposited with the U.S. Treus'r, to secure circulation, at Andersonville, Ga., where he was guarded 8-30 Notes and other U. S. S. by those incarnated diabolical fiends, the rebel officers, until he was paroled March 18th,

When near Vicksburg on his way home he wrote two letters, in which he gave some of Capital Stock, his own experience and what he had witnes- Surplus Fund, Circulation, sed. He said, "being slightly wounded he Due Banks and Bankers, was placed in the hospital." It appears by his Individual Deposits, Prof. and Learn ingenuity he managed to remain there, for he said they fared much better than the other prisoners, but even then six of them would only receive rations enough for one man and then he would remain hungry. He spoke of the sufferings there being most horrible, one hundred in August would die daily, said he what a miracle that I lived. He thought capital punishment here or hereafter, was too good for the leaders of this tragical rebellion,

Austin was among the number of returning prisoners on the ill-fated Sultana, as his name is not among the saved after the explosion, we have reason to fear the result—that we shall see his face no more. Austin Bridgeman could always make himself friends, he was fine-looking, intelligent and very affalle in his manners.

His affectionate mother, with the loss of her two sons, feels that she can hardly be comforted, his two sisters with his kind hearted brothers are truly bereft may heaven console them by believing the "Judge of all the cearth will do right."

SYMPTOMS.

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or sliney mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in
